ANTIGUA SAILING WEEK

THEME: HOW CAN WE STOP PLASTIC POLLUTION IN OUR ENVIRONMENT?

Antigua Sailing Week has transformed significantly over the past fifty years. It started with humble beginnings with a few boats and close friends racing to and from Guadeloupe. Today, it features challenging race courses around Antigua, high tech yachts, and people from all over the world.

Similarly the environment has changed a lot in the last fifty years.

Once our coastline was filled with wide beaches of clean sands, clear oceans, healthy reefs, and mangrove which nurtured fish and other wildlife. Today the beaches have eroded, the reefs are dying and the ocean is polluted with plastic debris. Our island depends on healthy land and water for tourism and sustenance. Therefore we should always aim to make positive steps to protect the health of our ocean and land.

Illustrate the behaviors we can all adopt in our daily lives to slow these negative changes to our shared environment, and remember that everything we do on our island has a direct impact to the ocean surrounding us.
